boclips
for publishers

Simplify procurement and transform your digital learning products with a single platform to find, license, and use educational videos from premier media brands.

It's no secret that video is an essential tool for effective learning. But enriching courseware with the right video can be a challenge. How do you find relevant content, manage the copyright hurdles, or add videos seamlessly into your learning environment?

That's where Boclips comes in. Using the power of educational video, we make digital learning products more engaging, memorable, and colorful to draw students into the worlds they're learning about. With rights-ready content and advanced search features, Boclips for Publishers simplifies convoluted procurement processes to make it easier than ever to find, license, and use videos in courseware.

Educationally Curated

Access short-form videos sourced from over 150+ premiere brands to support curricula across subjects and age levels.

Rights-Ready

Boclips holds the rights to 2 million+ videos so you can skip the copyright hurdles in courseware development.

Up-to-Date Content

Our content library is constantly growing and expanding to meet the evolving needs of educators.

Flexible Delivery Options

Download customizable videos or use our API to seamlessly integrate videos into your learning environment.
